PINOT GRIGIO DOC VENEZIE

Grape Variety Pinot Grigio (pinkish grape).

Description This vine produces a very unique pinkish grape derived from genetic mutation of Pinot Noir. It has been grown in Italy since the end of the 800. A rather complex variety, it requires special care in both the time of processing and in terms of its production. Thanks to white winemaking, this wine acquires a pale yellow color shedding its auburn tones that it would acquire if it stayed in its skin a little longer.

Sensory Notes An intense and harmonious bouquet with notes of apple, pear, acacia blossom.

Pairings Ideal for an aperitif, appetizers or accompanying a charcuterie board. Pairs well with first courses such as soups and pastas such as tortelli, gnocchi and risotto. Suitable for fish or white meat cooked delicately. Excellent with young cheeses.

Info Contains sulphites - Product of Italy.
