REFOSCO

Grape Variety Refosco (red grape)

Description Refosco dal peduncolo rosso (base of the spine), Friuli autochthonous vine, is quite widespread; it belongs to the Refosco group. It is designated by the color the stalk takes at the ripening stage of the grapes.

Sensory Notes The color is deep ruby with purple nuances. It has an intense and clean aroma, initially prevails floral notes of violet and then one perceives a fruitiness with hints of raspberry, black currant, blackberry and plum. The taste is firm, with a slightly tannic aftertaste, slightly bitter and persistent. It is a full bodied wine, smooth and dry.

Pairings Pairs well with white and red meat, farm raised or wild, grilled or roasted. Cured meats and hard cheeses. Hams like the Sauris.
